GEN. BINGHAM GIVES THE LIE TO MACK

BERTHE CLAICHE'S SISTER TELLS HOW GENDRON BEAT HER

Kicked and Choked White Slave Long Before Threats to Kill Drove Her to Shoot Him—New Witness Corroborates Morton.

Whatever negotiations may have been made between the prosecution and the defense in the Berthe Claiche trial, looking to the placing of a share of blame for the murder of Emil Gendron upon certain police officers, the hearing of testimony was resumed this afternoon. Neither Mr. Ely, for the prosecution, nor Mr. Levy nor Judge Rosalsky, for the defense, would admit there had been any advances made on either side.

Mr. Levy and Judge Rosalsky positively denied that they had made an offer to plead guilty in behalf of their client to any minor degree of manslaughter.

"We are sure of our defense," said Mr. Levy. "Neither myself nor Judge Rosalsky made any offer to the District-Attorney. We are in this fight to a finish and we will establish every contention we have outlined. We will show that the shooting of Emil Gendron was justified."

That neither Mr. Levy nor Judge Rosalsky made an offer is admitted by the officials of the District-Attorney's office. But that some important developments, directly associating certain police officers with the crime caused the sudden postponement of the case from 11 o'clock this morning until 2 o'clock this afternoon is undisputed. There was a conference this morning in the District-Attorney's office between Judge Rosalsky and Mr. Ely following the adjournment. The defense declares that no compromise involving the confession of guilt in any degree will be considered.

Edward Moyné was the first witness this afternoon. He and his brother Harry are witnesses for the defense to prove that Gendron beat Berthe Claiche on the night of June 18, three weeks before the shooting. Young Moyné was a little ambiguous in his description of Gendron and was temporarily excused. Jeannette Roumain, a married sister of the prisoner, was called to the stand.

Jeannette bears a striking family resemblance to her sister. She is slight, dark and has brown eyes. Judge Rosalsky conducted the examination. Jeannette, testifying through the court interpreter in French, said that Gendron met her on Nov. 6, 1904, when she arrived from Paris with her mother and other members of her family. The next time she saw him was at No. 142 West Twenty-eighth street, in April, 1905.

Q. What, if anything, did he do to your sister on that occasion? A. He struck her and he struck me. Mr. Ely objected, citing authorities. Mr. Levy sprung a few authorities himself.

"The cases cited by my learned brother," said Mr. Levy, "are antiquated and obsolete."

Justice Davis overruled the objection and the girl was allowed to repeat her answer. She said Gendron choked her against the wall. On another occasion, she said, she saw Gendron choke her sister. Mr. Levy tried to get in that Gendron struck the witness because she refused to follow the life that

PATRICK WITNESS OFF TO SING

Joseph Jordan, the Texas fisherman, sometimes called "Skinny" Martin, one of the witnesses brought on to aid Albert T. Patrick in his effort to escape execution for the murder of Millionaire Luce, was sentenced to serve one year and six months in Sing Sing Prison by Judge McKelton in General Sessions today. He had pleaded guilty to perjury when he testified that he had never been in a Texas fishing boat and was present when Jordan was sentenced, referred to him as a "poor, miserable floater, a man of the sort to whom designating persons would go when they wanted perjury evidence."

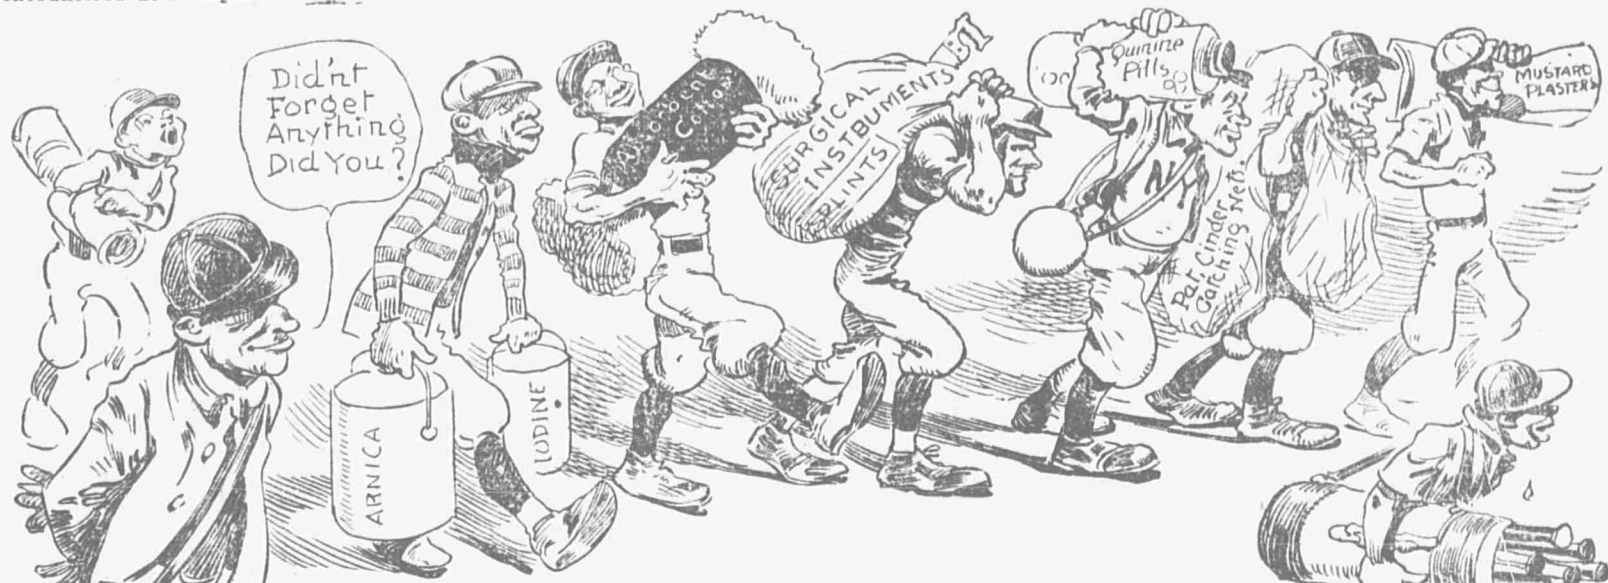

Former District-Attorney Olcott, Patrick's counsel, retorted that Jordan had done vastly more harm to his client's cause than to any one else in New York.

TROLLEY CAR VICTIM DEAD.

Fordham Hospital Officials Said "Jim Jam" Skull Fractured. William Cochran, forty-seven years old, of No. 2189 Morris avenue, who was run down by a trolley car at Two Hundredth street and Jerome avenue on Thursday last, died today in Bellevue Hospital from a fractured skull. He was found by a truck and was knocked off his seat by the car. Fordham Hospital, which sent the case to Bellevue, reported it as one of delirium tremens and said nothing about the collision. It was not until after an autopsy today that the coroner learned what had happened to the man.

CALLS A PUBLIC HEARING ON PARK FOR CHINATOWN

Borough President Ahearn Names March 20 for Argument on Evening World's Proposal to Wipe Out Evil Resorts.

Borough President Ahearn has set Tuesday, March 20, for a public hearing before the Local Improvement Board on the plan to wipe out Chinatown and establish a small park within the boundaries of Bayard street, the Bowery, Chatham Square and Park Row, Worth street and Mulberry street, as suggested by The Evening World.

Mayor McClellan is on record in favor of the plan and many of the property owners interested have signed the petition for the park. The assessed valuation of the land to be taken, if the project is adopted, is less than $2,000,000, and the improvements on the ground are practically of little value.

Mulberry Bend Park, which grew out of conditions somewhat like those of Chinatown, cost the city about $3,000,000. Under the Small Parks act the city can spend the money and can take the land, with the approval of the Local Board of Improvements and the concurring votes of the Board of Estimate and the Aldermen.

Darlington Favors Plan. Dr. Darlington, President of the Board of Health, to-day joined in the unqualified endorsement which is coming from every quarter in support of the plan. He is to-day engaged in an examination of the quarter, through his inspectors, and will prepare a report for submission to the local board when the public hearing is held.

"I am glad that something is at last about to be done to wipe out that plague spot," said Dr. Darlington, "and it is with the greatest pleasure that I support the Evening World in its efforts for the health of the city."

"I, of course, look at this subject purely from the standpoint of the need of sanitation. I have a lot of data which has been handed in by inspectors of the board from time to time, and I am having it put in shape. I will have a corps of inspectors going over the whole district to-day, and will give the local board the benefit of their reports."

Needs Radical Change. "I know conditions there, and have always contended that something must be done to make a radical change. If I were to speak as strongly as I could about conditions there I am afraid the public would become alarmed, and that might be bad. The stories that The Evening World has printed about the district have been so free from anything sensational that I do not want to inject such an element into the campaign. I think it should go on as it has. In a cool and dispassionate manner, setting up facts in cold words without any of the sentimentality that could easily be brought to bear."

"Conditions there are as bad as they can possibly be. It is impossible to enforce regulations for the protection of the public health, and all the efforts of this department have been far short of having the result which is desirable. This is no fault of the inspectors. They cannot enforce the law."

"If the inspectors could tell the public what they see there no other argument would be needed to have such a wave of feeling sweep over New York as would be irresistible. Facts are what are wanted, however, and these I will furnish to the local board, and will back the facts by my earnest support of the measure."

SIX NEAR DEATH AS ROWBOAT SANK

Four young women and two young men, all students at Baker's private academy, Arrietta street, Tompkinsville, S. I., had the closest kind of a call from drowning late this afternoon, when a rowboat sank with them in the bay. Two brothers, William and Beckman Le Nise, saved them in the nick of time.

One of the young women was Miss Mary Baker, the daughter of the principal of the academy. The names of the others I nte party were refused by Prof. Baker, but it is known that the owner of the boat was William Smith, who had invited the other five to go with him on a row. They made a heavy load for the small craft. They were some distance off shore watching one of the new Staten Island ferryboats, when the swell from a liner boat out washed over the gunwale and the rowboat settled.

The Le Nise brothers on a dock at Tompkinsville, had been watching the party. Jumping into a skiff they pulled to where the six young people were struggling in the water. None of them was a skilful swimmer.

Beckman Le Nise jumped overboard and guided the six students in turn to the bow of the skiff where the other brother hauled them in. All six were completely exhausted when they reached land and had to be carried to the academy.
